FOREWORD

"Unchanged are these dim hills, these quiet trees,
Unchanged each column, every mellowed
wall,
Where ancient ivy weaves its mysteries,
Mutation leaves not any mark at all."

In Presenting this book featuring the architecture of Hollins we feel that we are preserving for you the background on which are played so many memories of our days here at college. In every community, as Fredric le Play first pointed out, "there are three elements, the place, the work, and the people. Out of the interaction of the people and the place and through the work, the life of the community develops." Just so, we feel these mellowed, ivy-covered walls and stately white columns have played an intrinsic and unforgettable part in our life.

In Appreciation

MISS LOUISE MADDREY

You, Miss Maddrey, with never-failing cheerfulness, do the "little things" that make our life smooth and pleasant—the "little things" we often take for granted—the "little things" of great importance. Your impartial judgment has often stayed our over-hasty feet, your calm efficiency has taught us the value of doing all things well, your discerning thoughtfulness has taught us the beauty of an unselfish spirit—

To you, then, we dedicate our SPINSTER.

THE COLLEGE

With The Faculty

Our President...

MISS BESSIE CARTER RANDOLPH

Four years ago Miss Randolph was inaugurated as President of Hollins. Naturally, she became immediately involved in the complicated business of running a college, and for this reason we were unable to know her personally as much as we would have liked. Her influence, however, was soon felt in every corner of the campus. We all knew that she was an exceptionally able guide and executive; that she would cherish and uphold the traditions of Hollins—nay, lift them to heights unforeseen and unprecedented. More than this, we knew that she would eventually become a personal friend and adviser to every Hollins girl.

Miss Randolph has kept our faith. To her we entrust our college.

Sponsor of the Senior Class

MISS LAURA GUSTAFSON

With eagerness and restraint, with tolerance and sensitiveness, Miss Gustafson has given to us a youthful and challenging approach to life. Her vigor and enthusiasm for things wholly worthwhile is met not only in the classroom but in recreation as well. This eagerness has power, for it is both purposeful and dignified. With wisdom and understanding, she encourages individual initiative to which she always accords a generous recognition. Her tolerance has taught us the quality of friendship without condescension, while her sensitiveness has revealed to us the joy of consideration for others, and of appreciation for those to whom we should be grateful. To Miss Gustafson the Class of 1937 is grateful for her guidance during our four years at Hollins.

A HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1937

CATHERINE WRIGHT

1933-34

"So this is Hollins," we all said back there in '33, as our taxi withdrew leaving us parked unceremoniously on the steps of Main. First, rather dazedly, we plighted our basket ball troths to either the Reds or the Blues, and thereupon entered into the fabric of Hollins life . . . we'd always thought freshmen were definitely among the more insignificant ornaments of a campus, but we felt pretty important—until we heard: "Freshmen, the Sophomores are on your trail tonight." Then off came our make-up—and our dignity! . . . That was a memorable day when we went over to V. P. I. en masse. And did we capitalize on that trip? Ask Miss Bessie—she knows . . . Tinker Day, and it even exceeded our expectations . . . Our first Hollins prom—we gained remarkable insight into the man's point of view that night! . . . Founders' Day with all its wealth of tradition, accented by Miss Randolph's inauguration . . . then commencement, leaving us "safe now in the Sophomore Class."

ELIZABETH WILLIAMS

Our second year, and Libbie Williams was our new class president. We started the year off right by visiting the sins of last year's sophomores upon the present freshman class . . . Remember the Apprentice Players? Even Dr. Janney gave up on that interpretation of Shakespeare, and departed . . . Odd-Even hockey game—and the Odds won, if you please! . . . Spring, and the first Orchesis recital, or shall we say "Flit?" . . . The Sophomore prom when we all thrilled to the melodies of Johnnie Long! That dance made social history . . . And on May 2, we all blossomed forth in socks, actually . . . Then Miss Williamson announced open Keller on Saturday nights. Can't you hear the applause that called forth? . . . Finally, Commencement. Remember the game of leap-frog in the Green Drawing Room the last night of exams? We made the daisy chain that year and gave it to our big sisters. It was hard to tell them good-bye; they represented something to us which words somehow can't quite express.

ELIZABETH WILLIAMS

1935-36

In the fall of '35 we returned, still headed by Libbie, to find that now we were the big sisters, a fact which awakened new responsibilities in us. This strange role resulted in some of the most pleasant relationships of our whole four years at Hollins . . . Came December, and the Junior Prom definitely established our reputation as hostesses . . . Wasn't that an occasion when Nelson Eddy came to Roanoke? Such bargaining for tickets on the Hollins campus! Certain members of our class waxed rich that day . . . And, in the spring, the Student Government Association called a compulsory meeting of all juniors and seniors in the Chapel—we found out that was just the seniors' own individual way of presenting us with our longed-for class rings! . . . Commencement, and we saw another class of Hollins girls put out to sea, leaving us strangely garbed in the caps and gowns they had worn . . .

KATE SPRUILL

1936-37

Seniors! Actually leading the academic procession at the formal opening was but the first of a long series of new and enlightening experiences which paved our way. Our first Senior Forum, with each of us importantly arrayed in a wealth of finery, constituted another unforgettable event . . . Tinker Day and Founder's Day combine in our memories as the two most important monuments of our college days before our final embarkation. As we sang the songs we'd heard so often from the lips of other seniors, we suddenly realized our place in the beautifully integrated whole that Hollins symbolizes, a unity of the past, the present, and the future . . . Our last May Day, when colorful May baskets greeted our waking eyes. Then back to short skirts, baby talk, and hair ribbons. . .

Commencement, and a beautiful melee of garden parties, daisy chains, bonfires, senior banquets, class singing and graduation, all permeated by a certain breathlessness at the wonder of Hollins, which each generation of Hollins girls experiences as it goes forth into the world.

Sponsor of the Junior Class

MISS KATHRYN WOOD

The Class of '38, having climbed, with a rather bewildering rapidity, into the niche carved out by the successive generations of Junior classes, considers itself now among the "initiated." Its members have come gradually to understand and assume the responsibilities of the upper school, and to enjoy fresh privileges. But being comparatively inexperienced in the ways and workings of upper classes, and finding it difficult, at times, to be impressively "big sisterish," the Juniors are constantly in a state bordering on humility. Their own successes, their own progress, it is universally conceded among them, could not have been accomplished without the controlling force of some stronger, wiser hand. From the entire class, therefore, comes a tremendous vote of thanks to Miss Wood whose continual good counsel has proven invaluable to it, whose interested, enthusiastic friendship has secured forever its affectionate gratitude.

Honorary Organizations

HELEN MARTIN, Chairman

THE HONORARY ORGANIZATION OF FREYA

Freya is the honorary organization of Hollins, which seeks to recognize achievement in college by choosing for membership those girls who have contributed to Hollins in one or more fields of activity and who have been guided in all they do by a spirit of love for and fidelity to their Alma Mater. Freya was founded in 1903 by a group of Hollins girls who felt the need of some organization which should embody the high ideals by which they sought to live; that by union under the bond of common purpose, they might set these ideals as a standard of life of the noblest minded of Hollins girls; and in living day by day the principles which they acknowledged, might exert an influence for good, touching and uplifting all who came to live at Hollins. Though it has undergone many changes since that time, it still retains, as a heritage from the past, the legend of the Goddess Freya and still strives to achieve the loveliness which was Freya's nature for she was beautiful with the beauty which comes from a beautiful heart—hers was a spirit of purity, strength, and above all love.

The object of the Writer's Club is to encourage interest in creative writing at Hollins. Composed of those girls who have had two contributions published in Cargoes, it meets every two weeks for a usually lively discussion and criticism of contemporary literature, as well as of original poetry and prose by members, or by other girls on campus. Working with Cargoes, the club does its best to help those girls who are really interested in writing with the best encouragement and advice it can give, in a sincere effort to further the progress of Hollins creative writers.

MAY DAY, 1936

THE FESTIVAL OF LORA

The Festival of Lora, by Nancy Penn, was presented by the organization of Freya as the pageant for the May Day Celebration of 1936. It tells the story of Ermentrude, the lovely queen of Romandy, who has become estranged from her lover, Prince Winfrid, due to the mistaken assumption on his part that she has been unfaithful. This simple tale climaxes with Ermentrude's being crowned the most virtuous among the maidens of the Prince's own land, Ruhensburg, to his great delight, since he can now no longer doubt her loyalty. After Ermentrude's coronation, there is a very colorful scene during which the Queen and Prince return to Romandy amid the rejoicing of the villagers and courtiers. Dancing forms a very delightful part of this pageant; and not only are there dances by the Tumblers, the Courtiers, the Country Dancers, the Queen's Dancers, and the traditional May-Pole Dancers, but also the Queen herself, Carolyn Saunders, does a solo dance. The whole production reflects the charm and simplicity characteristic of Hollins May Days.

THE CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

The Christmas Pageant at Hollins is a spectacle always to be remembered. On that last Sunday evening before the holidays there is an air of excitement, of joyful anticipation which, seizing once again the intangible mood of Christmas, brings remembrance of its holy origin. The faith of the ancients in miracles comes again to those whose spirit Hollins has captured. Hush! The Madonna appears, a living symbol of all that Christmas means. She leads a little child, in whose face glows the light of understanding. So, too, do we behold with joyful trust the revelations which our Alma Mater bestows on us. Our hopes, our aspirations, our ambitions seem already fulfilled. A sudden peace comes over us. Christmas is here. All's right with the world.

A SCENE OF THE CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

JUNIOR PROM 1936

LED BY
MILDRED WILLIAMS AND JAMES DORSETT, DAVIDSON COLLEGE

Heading the list of the fall social occasions comes the Junior Prom, which was an Eskimo party. After weeks of concentrated effort by numerous committees, December 5, saw Tayloe Gymnasium turned into a veritable land of dark blue sky and snow. Eskimos, polar bears, penguins and igloos, all rising from a base of snow, covered the walls in a delightful manner. From the ceiling hung clusters of white balloons, and dark blue streamers reached from the scenery to the "sky." The effect of northern landscape was quite complete.

Jimmy Payner and his Collegians from North Carolina State College furnished the music for the tea dance and prom. Before intermission the Junior Class staged a grand march, in which they received favors, followed by a no-break. When intermission was announced, rooms off the gymnasium were opened to the dancers, and various members of the faculty became charming hosts to the students and their guests. These guests in question were young men from many of the eastern colleges, both near and far. Instead of photographing the figure, as has been the case, heretofore, a picture was snapped at a time when everyone was on the floor. All in all, the Junior Prom was most successful, both artistically and socially.

LED BY
LUCY SINGLETON AND DAVE GERHARD, AMHERST COLLEGE

The Class of '38 held its Sophomore Prom on April 25, 1936. On that night the "S. S. Sophomore" (really the Tayloe Gymnasium in disguise) carried a merry crew and cargo of dancers. Life boats, smokestacks, life preservers, and other devices which created a nautical atmosphere lined the walls, and the lights overhead were transformed into stars shining from a dark sky. The melodies of Johnny Long's Orchestra were conducive to smooth sailing on this sturdy craft, and his grand music contributed a great amount to the success of the dance. The figure was a gallant attempt at a "38," and though it wasn't entirely symmetrical when completed, we Sophomores had fun doing it, and we'll even go so far as to guarantee that it was also fun to watch. Then, to our utter amazement, just as we finished our noble efforts, a voice boomed out, "Hold it," and we were caught in the act by having a picture taken.

Need we mention that the refreshments were delicious, as usual? We were glad to get our little souvenir program cards marked "S. S. Sophomore" to have for our memory books, for we will remember this prom as another event to add to our long list of grand times at Hollins.

ATHLETICS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Miss Grace E. Chevraux

Her title is Associate Professor of Physical Education, Head of the Department, but this does not begin to describe her position here at Hollins. To everyone, whether she is athletically inclined or not, Miss Chevraux is councillor, guide, and friend. No matter how busy she may be, she is always ready to drop her work to help us. It may be a bunch of freshmen working on their back-dive, the Keller athletes anxious to be "athletic," or any of us with some knotty problem. From the time we enter as freshmen until our graduation, Miss Chevraux exerts the influence of her personality and ideals on our life. Weeks later we find ourselves recalling some advice or words of wisdom she has given us in our moments together. Physical education is her vocation but every student at Hollins is her interest and her friend.
